

DEPARTMENT OF PERIODONTOLOGY

1. Introduction

K.M. Shah Dental College and Hospital has achieved many milestones in the past few years. Department of Periodontics, which is the part of the institution, has a lot of achievements to its credit, owing to the steady progress it has made over the years, which is amply justified by statistics.

The Department has grown in size with efficient experienced staff looking after academic and clinical activities of undergraduates and postgraduate students. The department has developed and expanded its horizon in providing various quality oriented treatment facilities to the patients coming to the department. The department has the backing of non-surgical therapy, conventional surgical procedures, advanced periodontal plastic surgery, PRF and guided bone regenerative therapy and implants and LASER therapy as newer additions to the various treatment options available for the patients.
