

DEPARTMENT OF PERIODONTOLOGY

Introduction

K.M. Shah Dental College and Hospital has achieved many milestones in the past few years. Department of Periodontics, which is a part of the institution, has a lot of achievements to its credit, owing to the steady progress it has made over the years, which is amply justified by statistics. The Department has grown in size and stature, with efficient and experienced staff supervising and mentoring the academic and clinical activities of undergraduates and postgraduate students. The department has developed and expanded its horizon in providing various quality-oriented treatment facilities to the patients coming to the department. The department has an arsenal of non-surgical therapy, conventional surgical procedures, advanced periodontal plastic surgery, PRF and guided bone regenerative therapy, implants and LASER therapy, as well as various newer treatment options available for the patients.
